REQUEST

I am enquiring about the sewage treatment works in Ray Lane, Parkeston, as I am thinking of buying a property in Ray Lane Ramsey.

Have there been any complaints about smells from nearby properties? What kind of odour control is used? Are solids treated at the works? I have noticed a very pungent odour from the works and need to ascertain if this is usual. Your earliest response would be greatly appreciated.

RESPONSE

I am writing in response to your enquiry regarding the sewage treatment works in Ray Lane, Parkeston. Anglian Water are the responsible body for this site and further information pertaining to maintenance will need to be directed to them.

However, we can confirm that we received one complaint in June 2011 of odour emanating from the site, which was not substantiated by an officer of the Council, and was redirected to Anglian Water at the time of that complaint.
